Dear CGD Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my enthusiastic interest in the Policy Fellow/Senior Policy Fellow position with the U.S. Development Policy Initiative at the Center for Global Development. With over a decade of experience shaping policy and driving effectiveness from within the U.S. development ecosystem—including deep tenures at the Millennium Challenge Corporation and the Peace Corps, and longstanding professional relationships at the U.S. Development Finance Corporation (DFC)—I have dedicated my career to the very mission this role embodies. From directing large-scale, rigorous evaluations at MCC to leading large operational teams in MCC's Human and Community Development team and as the Chief of Operations and Director of Peace Corps Response, I have honed a unique blend of hands-on program leadership and advanced quantitative expertise that I would be thrilled to bring to CGD's team.

My career has been defined by bridging the gap between high-level strategy, research, and on-the-ground practice. This was crystalized during my time in Peace Corps senior leadership, where I have led one large-scale operational restructuring and in 2024 took on a role rebuilding the agency's global data and research team, driving the creation of tangible, empirical products to solve real-world operational challenges. I launched the "Peace Corps Mission Control" data science and analytics platform to drive performance improvement across all 60 country posts, and authored the "Peace Corps Recruitability Index," a first-of-its-kind empirical index based on revealed candidate preferences and volunteer delivery outcomes to guide strategic planning.

This quantitative work is always in service of driving development effectiveness. At MCC, I led the design and implementation of innovative programs, including the agency's first results-based financing mechanism—a cutting-edge $30 million public-private partnership in Morocco. In parallel, I spearheaded the concept development for the Morocco Employment Lab in partnership with Harvard's EPoD and J-PAL. These on-the-ground successes were informed by a commitment to thought leadership, from authoring flagship reports to designing and facilitating sessions at international conferences to spur policy debate.

My passion for this work is driven by a firm belief in the power of evidence to make development more effective. I have long admired CGD's ability to serve as both a public square for critical debate and a source of key reforms for U.S. foreign assistance. I am confident that my experience and skills are an excellent match for this role and am eager to learn more about your vision.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Ryan A. Moore
