Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing with great enthusiasm to apply for the International Education Senior Associate or Specialist position based in Bogotá, as advertised on the IDB careers website. With over 15 years of experience managing the full lifecycle of complex education and workforce development programs, I am confident that my skills in higher education reform, digital transformation, and policy dialogue align perfectly with the objectives of the IDB's Education Division in Colombia.

The position's emphasis on higher education reform and the application of AI in educational contexts is a key area of my expertise. At the Millennium Challenge Corporation (MCC), I was part of the core team for the Georgia Compact's STEM Higher Education initiative, contributing to its development, due diligence, and the design of its evaluation methodology. This project provided me with direct experience in structuring and implementing complex reforms within a university and government ministry setting. Complementing this, I led a major digital transformation project in Morocco to reform the national labor market information system (Marssad). We deployed AI and machine learning tools specifically to provide higher education institutions with the data needed to adapt curricula and better align with private sector demand.

My background includes the hands-on portfolio management and stakeholder engagement required for this role. As a Project Director and later as Director of Evaluation at MCC, I managed multi-million dollar budgets, led policy dialogue with government ministries, and oversaw dozens of projects and evaluations. My work co-authoring the flagship report, "Principles into Practice," which analyzed a decade of workforce development investments, led directly to a presentation of our findings to senior leadership at the IDB's Education Division. This existing connection to the Bank's work, along with my current role leading the Peace Corps' AI-driven analytics platform "Mission Control," underscores our shared commitment to evidence-based policy and innovation.

Finally, my deep experience in Latin America and my linguistic skills would allow me to integrate seamlessly with your team and counterparts in Colombia. I am fluent in all four of the IDB's official languages—Spanish, English, French, and Portuguese—and have managed programs on the ground in the region.

Thank you for your time and consideration. My CV provides further detail on my qualifications, and I am eager for the opportunity to discuss how my experience can contribute to advancing the IDB's education initiatives in Colombia.

Sincerely,

Ryan A. Moore
